DETAILED ACTION

Requirement for Unity of Invention

As provided in 37 CFR 1.475(a), a national stage application shall relate to one invention only or to a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept ("requirement of unity of invention")(PCT Rule 13.1).

As provided in 37 CFR 1.475(b), a national stage application containing claims to different categories of invention will be considered to have unity of invention if the claims are drawn only to one of the following combinations of categories ('groups'):

- (1) A product and a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product; or
- (2) A product and process of use of said product; or
- (3) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and a use of the said product; or
- (4) A process and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process; or
- (5) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process.

Where such a combination of categories of inventions is claimed in a national stage application, the requirement of unity of invention shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features. The expression "special technical features" is defined in Rule 13.2 as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

Art Unit: 1651

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 7-12, drawn to a method of treating, stabilizing or preventing low body weight or lower than desired percentage of body fat in a mammalian subject by administering a compound that decreases Shp2 activity.

Group II, claim(s) 14, drawn to a screening method for identifying a compound that decreases Shp2 activity.

Group III, claim(s) 26-33, drawn to a mouse that is genetically modified such that the Shp2 gene is homozygously disrupted, and to a method of using said genetically modified mouse to screen for compound that causes the genetically modified mouse to lose weight. (This is a combination of categories of invention as defined by 37 CFR 1.475(b), the combination being a product and a process of use of said product)

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Groups I and II lack unity of invention because even though the inventions of these groups require the technical feature of compounds which decrease Shp2 activity, this technical feature is not a special technical feature as it does not make a contribution over the prior art in view of Anderson et al (WO 99/46268). Specifically, Anderson et al disclose compounds which are inhibitors of Protein Tyrosine Phosphatases (PTPases), including the PTPase Shp2 (See Anderson et al, Pg. 1 and claims). Therefore the shared technical feature between Groups I and II, compounds which decrease Shp2 activity, fails to provide a contribution over the prior art, so unity of invention is lacking. Group III lacks this feature entirely, and thus unity of invention is lacking between Groups I and II and Group III a priori.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
